

ANNUAL REPORT 2020

CHANGE, RESILIENCE, AND BUILDING EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES.

Over this past year, the Pandemic made many people refocus on the true areas of need in their lives and where they could support their community. At Women for Humanity, we were recommitted to supporting educational opportunities globally.

We, along with our partners, have been inspired by the supportive strength and determination of our global Women For Humanity scholars. As a team, we will continue to make any needed shifts to support connecting global students with educational opportunities and resources.

Thank you for creating educational awards with your generous support!

WFH SCHOLARS SHARE

WFH Scholars in 2020 inspired everyone with their educational successes along with their community devotion. They volunteered, assisted other students, and always provided help to those in need when they had the opportunity.

HEAR FROM WFH SCHOLARS

“Honestly, your scholarship returned to me hope to continue my path and taught me a lesson that nothing is impossible. I hope to remain a student in this scholarship until the end, as it is my main support. Without it, I will never be able to continue. We appreciate your constant efforts to help me and similar students who do not stand a chance and thank you very much for everything that you have done for us and what you continue to do.”-R.S.

“With education alone we can change the world and build it better. I was accompanied by a lot of trouble and difficulties before I joined WFH scholarship, as if I was granted a grant for humanity as a cloud that rained my life ... and like the light that lit my heart and made me happy all time. You feel what is happening to us and think about our worries despite your distance from us.”-R.A.

“I provided English Lessons for a high school student for about 80 hours, which helped the student to advance by 2 levels by graduation.”-M.A.

“AHR mission: Atlantic Humanitarian Relief / providing free services in the refugee camps participated in the pharmacy department where we distributed the free medication to patients. -Provided free private courses in my home to several Syrian children who were in need of help in their school work.”-S.T.

Donor Appreciation Event

In 2020, we welcomed all current and newly interested donors to a virtual Thank You meeting with our current Women For Humanity Scholarship recipients, as a special gesture from our board and students. WFH Students were honored to have the opportunity to connect with sponsors and express their gratitude toward the sponsoring families. At this privately held event, many of the students shared their uplifting experiences as global scholarship students and community volunteers.
